BROOKLYN BEATS BALTIMORE BY

FIRST-CLASS PLAYING, And the Champions Surrender First Pince to the Clevelands-Washingtons Defeat the Philadelphias, Cincinnati Beats St. Louis, and Chicago Upocts Pittsburgh.

The New York-Boston game at the Hub, scheduled for vesterday, was postponed on so count of wet grounds. It was a piece of luck for the local teams, for Manager Irwin is in a bad way for pitchers just now. The Brooklyns, not contented with taking three straight games from the Clevelands, lowered the colors of the champion Baltimores, and also deprived them of the lead. The Washingtons continued their good work by outpointing the Philadelphias, who lost third place to the Cincinnatis, Ewing's men having an easy time with St. Louis. Chi-cago defeated Pittsburgh, and came within one point of tying Mack's players for eighth notch. The Cleveland-Louisville game was prevented by wet grounds. The results:

Brooklyn, 4; Baltimore, 2. Washington, 5; Philadelphia, 8. Cincinnati, 7; St. Louis, 1.

Chicago, 11; Pittsburgh, 5.
At Boston - Wet grounds,
At Louisvillo - Wet grounds.

BROOKLYN, 4; BALTIMORE, 2.

Four straight games from the two leaders is a record that the Brooklyn rooters are pointing to with much pride, and if Foutz's men can outlinue the pace of the last few days there is no telling what may happen before they start on their second Western trip. The Baltimor players, as lively as ever, made their first ap pearance of the season at Eastern Park yesterpearance of the season at Eastern Park yesterday, and while the home players pulled out a victory, they had very little to spare. Daub was as effective as ever, but his wildness in the third and eixth innings gave the Orloies a lead that at the time looked too big for the Brooklyns to overcome. Three scattered hits were made by the home players in the first five innings, but the Baltimeres went up in the air in the sixth inning, and before they recovered the score had been tied. In the next inning, after the first two men had gone out, an unexpected batting streak sent Jones and Griffin around the circuit, As no official umpire appeared, Gumbert and Clarkson officiated. Clarkson had several close decisions to decide. Brodie, Doyle, and Robinson made it lively for Arthur, but the Haltimore pitcher refused to listen to their demand. The score:

Camminor, June 18.—Harvard students turned out in a body to-day with the college tand expecting the nine to take another game from Brown, but the hand kept quite. The visitors won the game chiefly through lack of head work on the part of the Earvard team, and the Crimson nine received its first whitewash of the season. Brown came up determined to carry things with a rush, and the Harvard men instead of taking things coolly allowed themselves to be hurried, with the result that they lost the game. The score:

Pitcher Cogan of the Patersons is influitely superior in ability to any of the New York Club's young pitchers. He would be an excellent man for the New York Club to secure in its present predicament, providing Manager Barrows of Paterson would consent to soil his release. He has speed curves, and control, and handles himself in a way that is most impressive to competent critics.

GOTHAM IN RARE FORM COL. RUPPERT'S SPEEDY COLT MAKES A SHOW OF HIS FIELD.

A Clean Sweep for the Favorites at Graves end Lithos Captures the Bedford Stakes by a Half Length-"Pittsburgh Phil" Has to Pay $1,005 to Keep Ed Kearney. For the first time since the metropolitan racing season opened favorites yesterday made a clean sweep of the card, winning six consecutive contests at the Brooklyn Jockey Club's spring meeting. Fair odds were obtainable against all of the lot except Magian, who went to the post a red-hot favorite for the sixth race, so that the players of public form had a good day. The attendance was unusually large for a Monday, over 5,000 persons witnessing the sport. The Montauk High-weight Handican, at six furlongs, proved to be the feature of a rather tame day's sport, when Col. Ruppert's speedy colt Gotham jumped to the front at the dip of the flag and, leading his field by two open lengths from start to finish, ran the distance on a dead, wet track in 1:15%, with 132 pounds up, covering the first quarter in 0:23 and the half in 0:48. After Sunday's downpour the course was far from being at its best, and the time made by the big chestnut son of Iroquols was quite remarkable, considering the conditions. Walter S. Robart's bloodlike chestnut horse Ferrier, the half-brother to Hastings, who carried 140 pounds, ran a good, game race, fighting out the finish in gallant style with Hanwell and beating him a head for the place. Buckrene, second choice, was virtually out of the hunt when the flag fell, his head being turned across "Pittsburgh Phil" made a good winning over Ed Kearney's easy victory in the fourth race, a selling purse at a mile and a furlong, although it cost the young turfman $1,005 to retain his horse when the winner was put up for sale, Joe Ulman's agent, Dick Smith, bidding Kearney up to $1,000. Ulman's action is said to have been due to a falling out between I'hil and himself over the race won by Ed Kearney last Saturday. Kearney went to the post a well-backed favoile at 6 to 5, and, going to the front in the first furiong, he was never headed. Keefe made a strong play for the lead with Copyright on the backstretch, and at the sixth furiong pole he had the brown son of Uncas on almost even terms with the favorite; bus it was easy money for Ed Kearney when Tod Sloane made his ride in the homestretch, the chestnut horse running strong on the extreme outside of the course, finishing two lengths in front. Copyright beat The Bragon a short head for the place.

The Hedford Stakes was the third winning race that Lithos has run since his recent purchase by Trowbridge & Co. Of the five two-year-oils that started against him James McLaughin's Hi Daddy was the only one that could extend the half-brother to Ed Kearney in the run through the stretch, and although Doggett got his mount up to within a half length of the winner as they crossed the line, the chances are that Lithos could have run a bit faster at the finish if he had been called upon to do so. The Keene entry, Dr. Jim, displayed a turn of speed that promised much; but he was left away behind his field at the start, and after Coyle had run him under the whip, in an effort to overhaul the others in the first furiong, the fast colt was too much exhausted to make a strong finish.

Jonn E. Madden's bay colt Stachelberg and vorite at 6 to 5, and, going to the front in the first to overhant the others in the first furlong, the fast colt was too much exhausted to make a strong finish.

John E. Madden's bay colt Stachelberg and the Keene filly Tripping were both well backed to win the first race of the day, a dash of five furlongs for two-year-olds. The pair alternated in the lead for about half a mile, when loggett made a sharp ride with the filly, and in a few strides had the race in hand, winning by two lengths, with Stachelberg three lengths in front of Hint.

Counsellor Howe scored a rather easy victory over four other maiden three-year-olds in the second race at a mile and a surteenth, Doggett bruging him through the shall field with a rush in the last furiong, and landing him first at the finish by three lengths without a very hard drive. The Bruid, who had set the pace through the first mile, was beaten a head for the place by Ventanna.

Hon. Perry Belmont's bay colt Magian made a show of his field in the sixth race, winning under a stiff pull from Fleischmann & Son's Uncle Luke, Father Bill Daly's Emotional, and the Eric Stable's Bessie Browning. Summaries follow:

THE HORSE AND CARRIAGE TRADE ing Academy for His Sales,

The fire at the American Horse Exchange last reek resulted in changing the scene of the important auction sales of harness and saddle horses from the old-time mart on upper Broadway to Durland's Riding Academy in Fifty-ninth street, W. D. Grand, under whose management nearly all of the notable recent sales have been held, having secured accommodations there for the remainder of the season. Grand's special sale of the M. H. Tichenor Park horses, which was postponed from last Friday on account of the fire, took place yesterday in the new quarters and resulted very successfully. Highly satisfactory prices were received, one pair of tretting-bred high-steppers, King William and King John, bringing $1,100, while Hawley and The Judge, another pair, went for $1,000. The next sale will take place on Thurs-Hawley and The Judge, another pair, went for $1,000. The next sale will take place on Thursday, when seventy-five head of registered backneys from theory of Green's Forest View Stud are to be sold to the highest bidder. Among the lot is the noted stallion Rufus, Jr., winner of the American Hackney Society's challenge cup at the last National Horse Show. On Friday a combination sale of seasoned horses consigned by various owners will be held by Mr. Grand.

The well-known Pennsylvania horse breeder Joseph Boland has arrived at the Minecia stables in West Fifty-ninth street with a select lot of carriage and road horses from the Venange River Stock Farm, Cambridgeboro, Pa.

Thomas F. Devine & Co. report a booming trade in business and draught horses at their sales stables in West End avenue, near sixty-fifth street. Devine always has on hand a large assortment of serviceable seasoned stock, and, as everything is sold subject to trial and veterinary examination, buyers will find the stable to be a satisfactory doaling place.

In addition to the large stock of doctors', collectors', and contractors' carriages that Schildwachter of Park avenue and 128th street always has on hand, the Harlem bilder is at present offering special bergains in surreys, runabouts, and other traps for summer driving. Quality of workmanship and originality of design are the distinctive features of the varied stock of summer driving traps now on show at the repository of J. F. Goodrich & Co., on the corner of Broadway and Third street.

Studebaker Brothers, whose New York warerooms are in Canal street near Broadway, are showing an unusually large collection of carriages and traps of every description for city and country use.

The harmons and saidlery department of Hil-ton, Hughes & Co.'s Broadway store is replete with everything in the line of stable requisites and equipments. One of the many attractions is a full rubber-mounted double buggy harmess for $50. A brass-mounted or black surrey har-ness, with patent-leather collar, is sold as low as $1s.

OARSMEN AT POUGHKEEPSIE. Talks with Couches Mumford and Ward-Work of the Crews.

POUGHKEEPSIE, June 15 .- Beginning on Wedneeday morning and continuing to the day of the race the river opposite this city will present a very busy appearance. Cornell will arrive to-morrow night with three more crews, making a total of nine crews, all to train at the same time. All of the crews now here were out this morning and had an hour's practice. The Columbia crews hung near the east shore, as the water was quite rough at times. "Pennsy's" two crews, as usual, rowed in the rough water for three miles. Columbia's 'warsity crew used its new shell for the first time, the rigging having been done early in the morning. It weighs a trifle over 200 nounds and, as the crew is a heavy one, Boatbuilder Walsh says it will not stand much rough weather, and the coxewain has been directed to avoid rough water. Coach Munford of Harvard said:

"I regard the Hudson as one of the most desirable sheets of water in the country for training, and the course looks perfectly fair." He thinks the course should be staked off in the middle of the river, as it would be dangerous for the crews tog too close to shore. "I saw the U. of P. crew." said he, "and they impressed me as being a hard-working set of men, bent on making a good showling on race day." I am at a loss to understand why Ward sends them over the full course every day at a racing speed if he expects to have a strong crew on race day." Coach Ward heard of this and said: "I have only rowed my men against time twice since they have been here. If the Harvard men would stop having relay races up and down the radiroad track holding watches on my men every time we practice and pay more attention to their own rowing they would do better work. Mumford is very young in the business yet. If they let us alone we'll attend to our duties. My men haven't lost a day's training since the day they arrived here," and the veteran oarsman whistled. "Just teil them that you saw me," as he went on repairing the washboards on the shell.

In speaking of his own crews Mumford said. "At times the "varsity crew does some good." time. All of the crews now here were out this morning and had an hour's practice. The Coshell.

In speaking of his own crews Mumford said.

"At times the "varsity crew does some good work, and again they put up only a fair exhibition. Should they get a fair start and get moving together, it will take a good crew to beat them. They manage to keep the shell on an even keel, and that is saying much for the average crew."

age crew."
In speaking of the Harvard freshman crew Coach Mumford said: "They are an exceptionally speedy crew, and from all I have seen they should win. They are rowing fast enough for a 'varsity crew, at least for their distance, and although I have yet to see Cornell's crew. I have great hones of Harvard's freshmen winning."

THE L. A. W. RACING BOARD MAY SUSPEND RICTCLIST HADFIELD. The Charges Against Him Are for Violating the League Bules - A New Track at Paterson - Big Road Races in July, The Racing Board of the League of American Wheelmen has decided to investigate the case of C. W. Hadfield of the Vim Wheelmen of Newark, who was disqualified from first place in the recent Millburn road race upon charges that be received compensation from a manu-facturer in preparing for the big road race. Will R. Pitman, a member of the State Racing Board, informed THE SUN reporter yesterday that evidence had been submitted to Chairman Gideon of the National Racing Board which it proven, will likely result in the transfer of Hadfield from the amateur to the professiona ranks. Pitman declined to state the nature of the evidence against Hadfield, but admitted that if the charges were authenticated the outlook for Hadfield was very bad.

A fine one-third of a mile track has just been finished at Paterson for the Tourists' Cycle Club of that city. It is composed of twelve inches of macadam, covered with clay, and is as hard and smooth as a floor. The banks are at such an angle as to be perfectly safe. Judging from comments made by racing men who have seen the track and tried it, the club has every reason to expect that some records will be broken at its race meet on July 4. The accommodations for riders have been well provided for. The training quarters are to be placed under the new grand stand, which is 250 feet long, where everything that will pertain to their comfort and necessity has been placed. The accommodations for spectators consist of two covered grand stands, with a seating capacity of over 3,500. There are also racks where wheels may be checked, and a large space for horses and wagons. The club has not spared any expense in making the track one of the most complete in the country.

The Road Committee of the Hudson County Wheelmen is planning to hold a twenty-five-mile open handle aprace over the Hudson County Boulevard on Saturday, July 4. The course is well suited for such a race, and on any other date the event would undoubtedly prove to be an important one. The selection of July 4, however, by the Associated Cycling Clube of Long island for their road race will result in a class that may possibly affect the chances for the Jerseymen's success.

The Associated Cycling Clubs of Long Island talk of holding a team road race on the Valley stream course, on Labor Day, All the leading ciubs on Long Island are members of the association and have representative road racing teams, so that such a contest would arouse a great deal of club interest. Philadelphia, June 15.—The woman's lawn tennt championship matches begin to morrow afternooi in the courts of the Philadelphia Cricvet Club, on Washington Heights. Entries closed to night for the championship singles and the mea's oper doubles and the drawings were made. The list for the other two events will be held open till to morrow to accommodate late comers.

Some anxiety is fest here over the possibility o Miss Atkinson being unable to defend her claim to the championship title here this week, and all are anxious to find out how seriously her straines ankie will affect her play. The little Brooklyt champion turned her ankle on Saturday in hel mai match against Miss Moore at Orange, and all the enthusiasts here are hoping that she will have entirely recovered the use of it in time to play here. The absence of Miss Hellwig of Brooklyn and Mrs Dr. Toulmin of Philadelphia, both national exchampions, is also regretted. In the singles Miss for seems to outclass all the other entries inough Miss Ethel Rotto of Boston is a stranger who may prove a dark horse.

In the men's doubles Fischer and Paret will have to meet Smith and Tete, the Penusylvania State champions, and seven other Philadelphia teams. The double looks easy for Miss Atkinson and Fischer of Miss Moore, while either the champion and Fischer of Miss Moore, and Paret should capture the mixed double championship. Club, beat F. J.
